Summary

The purpose of the Lord Somers Camp and Power House (LSC&PH) Diversity and Social Inclusion Policy is to support and facilitate an inclusive organisational culture that aligns with our vision of a stronger, more inclusive society, created through service to others. This organisational vision embraces the inherent benefit derived from acknowledging and valuing diversity in the delivery of our programs and activities. The policy recognises and celebrates diversity in gender, age, ethnicity, religious or cultural background, disability, marital or family status, sexual orientation, gender identity and other areas of potential difference.

LSC&PH's Board is committed to ensuring that diversity and social inclusion principles are integrated with, and underpin, all aspects of our programs and activities. A key requirement of this is raising the awareness of and developing the capacity of our employees, members, volunteers and contractors to support an environment in which everyone is treated fairly and with respect.

1. Responsibility

This policy applies to all people who work or volunteer for, are members of, or represent Lord Somers Camp and Power House. Employees and executive teams must ensure that this policy is applied within their programs and activities. Everyone is responsible for contributing towards an inclusive organisational culture. Other LSC&PH policies and documents which should be read in conjunction with the Diversity and Social Inclusion Policy include: Code of Conduct; Client Protection Policy; Reconciliation Action Plan; Social Media Policy and Privacy Policy.

2. What Diversity and Social Inclusion Means to us

Diversity and Social Inclusion were fundamental to the origins of LSC&PH in 1929. Our Founder, Lord Somers, was committed to uniting a diverse and fractured community and the eradication of prejudice, misunderstanding and intolerance. Back then, a primary focus of diversity was socio-economic difference, so the goal was to promote social cohesion by introducing people from different social classes and providing them with a life-changing experience that would help them challenge and heal divisions between classes.

Over time, diversity (and its awareness) has evolved. Diversity now gives greater recognition to gender, age, ethnicity, religious or cultural background, disability, marital or family status, sexual orientation, gender identity and other areas of potential difference.

It is however not sufficient to just bring a diverse mix of people together through our programs and activities; it is about creating an organisational culture that embraces diversity to foster learning and connection between our members and volunteers and the community we serve. Inclusion enables us to strive to have all people respected and valued, not just for their abilities, but also for their differences, unique qualities and perspectives. Building an inclusive culture also supports our organisation to maintain relevance and be adaptive within a rapidly changing context.

Diversity within our communities and society and the importance of inclusion is increasingly recognised and celebrated. We are striving to stay true to Lord Somers' original vision of 'breaking down artificial social barriers within our society' by promoting inclusion of all.

Exclusion on account of any attribute linked to diversity and identity can have a negative impact on individuals, organisations and communities. Whereas a sense of inclusion can help individuals, organisations and communities reach their full potential and function.

3. Alignment with our Vision and Values

The LSC&PH vision and values underpin the LSC&PH Diversity and Social Inclusion Policy and combined with our Code of Conduct, help guide our conduct, actions and decisions when involved in LSC&PH programs and activities.

Diversity and social inclusion is embedded in our vision of 'a stronger, more inclusive society created through service to others'.

Two of our Organisational values are inherently linked to inclusion:

Acceptance – We accept other people, their values and their differences. We offer equality of opportunity.

Belonging – We provide a place where everyone can belong regardless of gender, age, culture, sexuality or ability.

4. How we support diversity and social inclusion

In order to support the implementation of this policy and the continuous strengthening of an inclusive organisational culture; LSC&PH will:

- Continue to build on and expand our suite of programs, activities and events which promote social inclusion
- Ensure individuals are provided with equal opportunity, while also creating opportunities for groups that may be disadvantaged
- Emphasise the accountability of our leaders to foster an inclusive culture where individual difference is understood, respected and valued
- Foster a culture which supports and respects the values and needs of all individuals regardless of individual difference.
- Ensure acknowledgement and compliance by employees, members and volunteers with the LSC&PH Social Media Policy and Code of Conduct, specifically the requirements to:
 - Treat others with courtesy and respect during all interactions related to LSC&PH activities
 - Contribute to an environment in which different opinions, perspectives and cultures are valued and encouraged
 - Consider how individual conduct might reinforce inappropriate stereotypes based on gender, race, age, political or religious belief, sexuality and any other discriminatory ground, and refrain from such conduct
- Provide diversity and social inclusion training and education opportunities for leaders, members, employees and volunteers involved in implementing our programs and activities
- Ensure recruitment and selection processes across all levels of LSC&PH are structured so that a diverse range of candidates are encouraged and considered

- Ensure this policy is made publicly available on the LSC&PH website
